CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

"THE best means of forming a manly, virtuous, and happy people will be found in the right education of youth. Without this foundation, every other means, in my opinion, must fail. . . .

Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness. . . . To the security of a free constitution it contributes in various ways; . . . by teaching the people themselves to know, and to value their own rights; to discern and provide against invasions of them; to distinguish between oppression and the necessary exercise of lawful authority; . . . to discriminate the spirit of liberty from that of licentiousness, cherishing the first, avoiding the last, and uniting a speedy but temperate vigilance against encroachments, with an inviolable respect to the laws."—Washington.

"Ah, hero of our younger race,
Strong builder of a temple new,
Ruler who sought no lordly place,
Warrior who sheathed the sword he drew!
Lover of men, who saw afar
A world unmarred by want or war,
Who saw the light, and led the way
Where the gray world might greet the day—"

The musical score is written for voice and piano. The voice part is on a single staff in G major (one sharp) and 4/4 time. The piano accompaniment is on two staves (treble and bass clef) in the same key and time. The score consists of four systems, each with a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The lyrics are written below the vocal line. The piano accompaniment features a variety of chords and melodic lines, including a prominent bass line in the left hand. The tempo is marked 'Moderato' and the dynamics include 'cres.' (crescendo) and 'f' (forte). The score ends with a final chord in the piano part.

ADMINISTRATION

TEACHERS of the last year not here now are Miss Blackford, Miss Reid, Miss Cock, Miss Rickards, Miss Schmermund and Mr. Reynolds. New instructors for this year are Mrs. Green, Miss Griffith, Mr. Baum, and Mr. Miller. Miss Patterson was transferred from a junior high school for the fall semester and returned there at mid-year.

The general assemblies for the year have presented President Daniel W. Morehouse of Drake University who talked on astronomy; Lieutenant Charles E. Lofgren of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition,* Robert M. Zimmerman who discussed deep sea diving; Mr. Glenn Morris who demonstrated the wonders of electricity; Miss Lavonne Field in songs and pictures; and Doctor Chester Milton Sanford on vocational guidance.

The benevolent spirit of the school was expressed by fifty bushel baskets of food for needy families at Thanksgiving and one hundred cans of fruit and vegetables for the general public school collection, the purchase of $35.07 worth of Christmas seals, and the donation by members of the staff of $1,860.00 to the city unemployment fund. $48.95 in gifts have been added to the Washington Education fund for the aid of needy pupils.

The music courses have been enlarged to include chorus, conducting, harmony, and theory of music. The advance choral classes are now doing a capella work and the glee clubs have become advanced voice classes three days a week and theory of music the other two for full credit.

This is the fifth year of the thrift-budget plan for financing excursions. All participating organizations were cut 20 per cent this year to balance the budget, but with strict economy the usual program was carried out. Through a bank loss of $800 further economies will be necessary next year; and unless the budget is more generally supported, the curtailment of our excular program will be necessary. The weekly "saving for purpose" is the best way to be ready to buy tickets in September.

This semester the registration reached the highest point in the history of the school since the city was divided into east and west side senior high school districts: 1060 pupils—522 boys and 538 girls.

The special committee in charge of the Washington bicentennial celebration is pleased to enumerate the following features for our part in honoring the Father of his country:

- a. Adoption of the permanent Washington seal emblem.
- b. Unveiling the Washington Cedar-Pulse gift portraits.
- c. One hundred and eighty-five home room talks on Washington.
- d. Showing of the official Washington films.
- e. Presentation of the Washington theme in The Cedar.

In a material way the attendance and general offices have been consolidated as an administrative unit by building a counter and installing desks and files in the waiting room space. Three department conference rooms, English, Commerce, and Social Studies, have been added. These small rooms make ideal places for departmental work shops and more economical space than class rooms for teachers during preparation hours.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF JANUARY, 1932

CLASS Advisers: Miss Emma C. Larson, Miss Ruth Whaley, and Mr. O. J. Gerwig.

Soon after its entrance to Washington Senior High School in January, 1929, the class that was destined to be the class of January, 1932, made itself known and felt in school life. It was in June of the year when the group were 10B's that they won the silver cup offered by the P. T. A. at the annual song contest. Not only did the class win the cup at the initial song fest, but it retained it the following year when the group sang as 11B's.

There were outstanding members in all fields of endeavors; there were honors that were won and individuals whose personalities and abilities grew splendidly during the class's progress.

When the time came to graduate, there were regrets at leaving, but there was great anticipation for the future. Class Day, held at the Paramount theatre, portrayed an amusing method of raising the depression in a skit which was written by members of the class.

The class banquet at Killian's was a gay, memorable affair where teachers and pupils mingled for the last time in those respective positions. Soon the evening was at hand when gray-robed and austere, the Class of January, 1932, sat proudly on the Memorial Building platform and more proudly received their diplomas. Unbelievable as it seemed, the three long years were over, and their Commencement had become history. This is, briefly, the outline of the history of the Class of January, 1932.

TO THE CLASS OF '32

The stars are always ours, my friends
No matter where we roam;
And stars that shine on foreign lands
Are also seen at home.

And each man has his guiding star
That lights him on his way.
Through all the storms that cross his path
The star's there night and day.

And some have called it destiny
And some have called it fate
And some declare that blue stardust
Can make us small or great.

But just remember this, my friends,
Through all life's golden hours
Even though we must change hilltops
The stars are always ours.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF JUNE, 1932

THE Senior Class of June 1932 was the fifty-eighth class to be graduated from Washington. On June 8 the Commencement Exercises were held with Grant High School at the Memorial Coliseum.

The activities of this class have included class plays, mixers, and monthly assemblies.

Throughout the sophomore, junior, and senior years, the senior class has been a participant in the home room music contests held at the Shrine Temple and Coliseum, winning honors at each contest. Some of its members have also won high honors in state academic and state music contests, both in group and individual work.

One of the outstanding features of the graduating class has been the student supervision of class activities. The monthly assemblies have been planned and presented by pupils. In one of the assemblies, an outstanding number on the program was a play, "The Courtship of Miles Standish," written by Sturges Ely. The costumes, scenery, stage direction, and presentation were entirely under the supervision of members of the senior class. The senior class song, "Honor Washington," was also presented at this assembly. Not only the words but also the music were written by Sturges Ely, a member of this class.

The advisers during the past semester were Miss Combs, Miss Grissel, Miss Horn, Miss Byerly, and Miss De Noon.

SING A SONG OF CLASSES

(Tune: Eddie Cantor's "President Song")

If you send me to Washington,
 Here's what I'll do for you,
 I'll make the week ends longer
 And the school days very few.

Chorus—Oh, while I'm a sophomore green,
 While I'm a sophomore green,
 I'll brighten up this bastille mean
 While I'm a sophomore green.

We'd like a new school—We'd like a new school!

Now that I'm at Washington,
 I'll study hard, I swear,
 I will not cause the teachers sweet
 The slightest little care.

Chorus—Oh, while I'm a junior gay,
 While I'm a junior gay,
 I'll study hard and get an A,
 While I'm a junior gay.

WE WANT a new school—WE WANT a new school!

Now that I've been in Washington
 For three long, tiresome years,
 I've changed my mind entirely
 As well as lost my fears.

Chorus—Oh, while I'm a senior bold,
 While I'm a senior bold,
 Oh, I'll gladly leave this old place cold,
 While I'm a senior bold, for

WE'LL NEVER GET a new school—WE'LL NEVER GET a new school!

THE CEDAR

IT has been one of the world's popular conceptions that every well-regulated high school should publish an annual. With the exception of an interim during the war that idea has not been frustrated for twenty years. Starting with a staff composed only of seniors, the Cedar now draws its editors from all the grades—giving the underclassmen as much an active interest in it as the seniors.

The name Cedar is exceedingly appropriate for this publication in that that tree gave the city its name, and it is, therefore, fitting that it should be applied to the year book of the city's largest public school.

The staff of the 1932 Cedar is composed of twenty members, with at least two from each grade. Helen Larimer, appointed as Editor-in-Chief, and the entire staff under her, worked under the supervision of Miss Rachel Witwer, the faculty adviser. The feature department was edited the first semester by Robert Downing. Upon his graduation that duty fell to Rosemae Johnson. The business and advertising, with John Kanealy as Business Manager and Merlin Morris as Assistant, were under the supervision of Miss Ella Gris-sel. Mr. Leon Zeman and his art classes have contributed as much to the success of this book as the staff proper; and it was largely through the faithful work of him and his department that it was artistically possible. Credit should be given Conger Metcalf for the pencil drawings found on pages 1, 3, 14, 15. As a man is judged by the company he keeps, so an annual is judged by the theme it employs. To bind the departments together there must be some collective motif, some expression of continuity. It is fitting that the life of our greatest national hero, George Washington, should be chosen for the theme of this year's annual for two reasons. Our school is his namesake; that in itself would be sufficient cause for its use. But even more than that, the year 1932 marks the bicentennial celebration of his birth. It is a year that is doing its limit of work in honoring and perpetuating the glory and fame that was so deservedly Washington's.

Activities of Washington's day appear in the inserts of each division page and peaceful and beautiful old Mount Vernon furnishes the background for the division pages. They somehow remind one of Washington's most glorious attributes—his firmness, his deep sense of conviction, his steadfast loyalty to the good and the high. He should be, and is, the perpetual model of all—a star, shining through the mists of age. Those of us who have worked on this yearbook believe that such a man will give all of us that inspiration, that hope, which was truly his so that we may carry on our life work to a worth while accomplishment.

THE PULSE

WASHINGTON high school's newspaper, the Pulse, was founded in 1900 as a magazine and continued thus until 1927, when it was changed to a paper published bi-weekly.

Previous to this year, the Pulse was an extra-curricular activity, the editing and managing of the paper being combined into one staff. However, this year the work of editing the publication has been assumed by the class in journalism, giving them practical experience in newspaper work.

The editorial staff has as its adviser, Miss Lyndall Ives.

The business staff is completely separate from the editorial staff. The members of this staff have entire charge of financing the paper and soliciting all advertisements. It is headed by Jack Edwards, and the faculty adviser is Mr. O. John Gerwig.

The relative positions on the editorial staff are determined by the pupil's ability as a journalist. The staff rotated every fourth issue the first semester, and every third, the second semester. The editors for the fall semester were Frederick Merritt and Betty Reitz, managing editors; and Merlin Morris and Rachel Cummings, the two editors-in-chief.

During the fall semester Frederick Merritt, Betty Reitz, Robert Downing, Merlin Morris, Norman Berg, and Rachel Cummings were sent as delegates to the Iowa High School

Press Association convention held at Grinnell, Iowa, October 30 and 31.

At this convention it was agreed to elect the president of the association by schools rather than elect an individual. Our high school was the recipient of this honor. Also Frederick Merritt won recent honors in the news editing contest held at the Grinnell convention.

Frederick Merritt again was granted recognition when he placed third in the West Central section of the Current News division of the Quill and Scroll national contest. Joe Buss, also of the fall staff, received honorable mention in the feature section of the same contest.

The editors for the spring semester have been as follows: Robert Daniel and Betty Jacus, editors-in-chief, and Mary Jane McRaith and Robert Daniel, the two managing editors.

The Pulse entered the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest of nation-wide competition open to all high schools. The Pulse received first in the class in which it was entered. Other contests in which the Pulse has been a participant are the Midland College Tri-State Press contest including the states of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, sponsored by Theta Gamma Epsilon, an honorary journalism society, and the National Scholastic Press Association contest held at the University of Minnesota.

THE BAND

THE Washington High School Band has been very active in promoting the pep and enthusiasm of the pupils. In their snappy uniforms they marched before the school on the gridiron and have played at each basketball game.

Although the band was unable to attend the music contest this year, they are organizing chamber groups of both reed and brass instruments, and several soloists are planning to enter the contest. Among the soloists are: Frances Halda and Vera Scott, clarinet; Mardelle Owen and Glenn Skersick, cornet; Dick Wing, bassoon; Robertson Little, flute.

The band, combined with Grant's organization, has played for the American Legion, and has given its annual concert with the orchestra at the Memorial Coliseum.

Under the able direction of Mr. William Vesely, a well known Cedar Rapids musician, the band has mastered many new marches and famous overtures. Among the overtures and marches are "Ballet Egyptian" by Luigini, "Ruy Blas" by Mendelssohn, "King Cotton," "El Capitan," and "Bravura."

Mr. Vesely is planning a concert tour through the small towns in Linn and surrounding counties, during the spring semester, since the band is not attending the music contest. The proceeds from this tour are intended to be spent to improve the instrumentation of the organization. The band has been repeatedly praised for its school spirit.

THE ORCHESTRA

THIS year the Washington High School Orchestra, under the leadership of Roland L. Moehlmann, has been holding its regular rehearsals three times a week in the old cafeteria of the Y. W. C. A.

January 18, the orchestra was presented in a concert with Grant and the four Junior High Schools. A selected group played for the Junior and All Star plays. During National Music Week this spring, the Grant-Washington orchestra intends to give another concert. For this concert Mr. Moehlmann plans to have the orchestra play: Beethoven Symphony I, Grieg—Concerto A minor for piano, Prelude and Fugue—D minor, Bach; Rosamunde Overture, Schubert; Sonata F major, Handel.

Last spring, after winning the sub-district and district contests, the orchestra entered the state contest, but failed to place. The string quartette won second place, and Kenneth Skersick, third in violin solo. The quartette, composed of Kenneth Skersick, David Brown, Chester Petranek, and Paul Krachmer, accompanied by Mr. Moehlmann, went to Cleveland, Ohio, where they competed in the National Contest, with the quartette placing sixth, and Kenneth Skersick, fifth.

This year only soloists and small groups will enter the music contests; the orchestra entire is too large to undertake the necessary preparation. The contestants will be chosen through a city contest between Grant and Washington, the winners from each school in every event entering the sub-district contest.

THE ROYAL FAMILY AT DINNER

ALL SCHOOL PLAY

BEHIND the production of the all school play on January 30, lay the idea of presenting once a year a dramatic event which would combine the able stars of the school in a play of higher quality and stronger nature than the other productions of the year. For the initial venture in this new plan, Director Ina Hibbard chose "The Swan," by Ferenc Molnar, famous Hungarian playwright.

In brief review, "The Swan" is set in a mythical European kingdom where the ambitious Princess Beatrice, mother of a royal brood, cultivates an intrigue she hopes will result in the marriage of her daughter, Princess Alexandra, to Prince Albert, heir apparent to a neighboring throne. The mother was capably played by Virginia Kuning, while Dorothe Howe took the role of Alexandra, "The Swan," and Robert Downing interpreted the Prince. Beatrice's plan is to allow her daughter to fall in love with the family tutor, Dr. Agi, played by Donald Grout, in order to make Albert take a jealous interest in Alexandra.

But the situation grows out of bounds, and Agi and Zara are soon very much in love, needing to help them from their dilemma the kindly philosophy and humor of Father Karl, Beatrice's brother, who has taken the vows of the Church. Ronald Wilson characterized Karl. Other members of the royal family are the young Princes, George and Arsene, played by Paul Caldwell and Emil Petranek, and the Princess Symphorosa, sister to Beatrice, represented by Muriel Morton. The Princess Maria Dominica, mother to Albert, appears in the last act to accept Zara as her daughter. Doris Garner played Dominica.

Others in the cast include Caesar, a sumptuous major-domo, played by Lewis Alcorn; Colonel Wunderlich, aide to Albert, interpreted by Robert Frederick; Walter Jones as Alfred; Marji Capron and Marian Hepner as ladies-in-waiting; Mary Jo French, a maid; and William Van Orsdol, Fred Kubias, Henry Spencer, and Robert Thomas as lackeys and hussars.

"The Swan" required the most elaborate costuming ever used for a Washington High School play, outfits ranging from brilliant and authentic military uniforms to the gorgeous evening gowns of the ladies, the liveries of the hussars and lackeys, and the monastic robes of Father Karl.

Walter Staves, Fred Merritt, and John Holbrook were in charge of the staging of the play, the latter being responsible for the lighting. The set was a room in the royal castle, and the most difficult scene was a banquet in the second act which required the setting with complete service of a state dinner for seven persons.

JUST BEFORE THE SERVANTS' REBELLION

SENIOR PLAY

"HONOR Bright," a comedy in three acts, was successfully presented by the June, 1932 class of Washington High School, under the direction of Miss Ina Hibbard April 9, 1932, at Benjamin Franklin Auditorium. The scene of the play is laid in the spacious hall-living room at "Rockmere," the summer home of the Barringtons at Beach Haven, Massachusetts.

Miss Honor Bright, played by Margaret Krebs, is selling reference books to help finish her college course. On her first day of canvassing she strays into the home of the Barringtons.

Richard, enacted by Henry Spencer, the only son of the household, has become engaged to a chorus girl, Tot Marvel, Virginia Smith, who is with the "Snap It Up" company. Mrs. Barrington, played by Bernice Curran, has arranged to have Miss Marvel come to "Rockmere" in order that Dick's Uncle William (the Rt. Rev. William Carton), James Carrithers, and his Aunt Peggy, Elizabeth Jackson, may meet their nephew's fiancée. Tot is delayed because of an innocent prank played with a band of noisy revellers in a public park in Boston. When she fails to appear, her delay causes great anxiety to Dick Barrington.

In his extreme desperation Richard, with the aid of Watts, the butler, portrayed by Robert McLean, hits upon the plan of having the girl book agent pretend to be his fiancée. Honor finally agrees to assume the role of the chorus girl with the explicit understanding that she is to remain only for dinner.

The complications begin with the rebelling of the servants, Annie the maid, Evangeline Dennis; Foster, the gardener, Alex Sampson; Michael, the chauffeur, Melvin Skalsky; and the Irish cook, Maggie, played by Elizabeth Melberg. Two deputy sheriffs, Jones, Don Borchart, and Simpson, Donald DeFore, appear with the intent of arresting Miss Marvel for the desecration of the Boston park. They find they are after the wrong person when Rev. James Schooley, played by Robert Thomas, recognizes Honor as a member of his parish in Nebraska.

Due to the late arrival of Tot at this time, it is necessary for Honor Bright to remain until matters are cleared up. As it is seen that Tot does not love Dick, Honor telegraphs Bill Drum, an old suitor of Tot's, played by Robert Shepard, to come to Beach Haven.

His arrival climaxes the play with the subsequent engagement of Richard and Honor, and the marriage of Tot to Bill Drum.

Due to its novel idea, careful directing, and splendid acting, this, the last production of the class of 1932, was recognized by all as a most successful presentation.

DINNER AT BARNABY DREARY'S

JUNIOR PLAY

SPRING OF 1931

DO you remember just about a year ago that "Erstwhile Susan," the 1931 Junior Class Play, was presented under the direction of Miss Ina Hibbard, at Benjamin Franklin Auditorium? It was too late to make "The Cedar" of that year; but this article will help you recall that Virginia Kuning, playing the initial role, proved that the difficult part of Susan, once interpreted by Mrs. Fiske, could be mastered by a high school student; and that the play, dealing with a group of Pennsylvania Dutch, is centered at Barnaby Dreary's home. Barnaby, portrayed by Charles Edwards, satisfied with the lot of just "plain folks," provides humor with his one-sided views. He and his two prejudiced sons, Jacob and Emanuel, played by Wendell Delzell and Kermit Hayden, respectively, believe a woman's place is at home waiting on the men. Therefore, upon Barnabetta's young shoulders rests the task of keeping house for her father and brothers. Barnabetta, neglected daughter of Barnaby, was sympathetically acted by Margaret Krebs.

Barnaby, having had two wives "die on him," advertised for a third. Erstwhile Susan, answers the advertisement. Barnaby, in order to meet his future wife in a satisfying manner "dolls up," thus amazing Abel, Melvin Skalsky, the would-be suitor of Barnabetta. When Susan arrives with Judge David Jordan, Richard Westerfield, she resolves to rejuvenate Barnaby's household. She finds Barnabetta a backward girl with undeveloped talents, and through the aid of Judge Jordan, gains her confidence. After shielding Barnabetta from her father's strap, Judge Jordan falls in love with her. Susan offers Jacob and his bride, Ramah, played by Marian Hepner, a trip to California and sends Barnabetta away to school, to "find herself."

The third act occurs a year later, after the death of Barnaby. Jacob has returned, supposedly, from his honeymoon, and, too, a more sophisticated Barnabetta arrives from college. The Menonite relatives of Barnaby, Robert Thomas, Henry Spencer, Muriel Morton, and Lenore Stark, all await the arrival of Absolum Puntz, a lawyer, William Gray, to read Barnaby's will. Accordingly, Barnaby's fortune is to be evenly divided among his family. Jacob, thinking himself the "favorite son," storms when he finds he is to receive no more than Emanuel and Barnabetta. Jacob reveals that he has not been to California, but to Cedar Center, Iowa, to visit Ramah's folks and to investigate the past of his stepmother. He also reveals that Susan was married to a drug store clerk in Cedar Center, and that she had once been an actress—an awful profession! Susan proves she had never married the drug store clerk, but disillusioned by her unfortunate love affair, went on the stage. The crowd leaves, and Governor Robert Marsh, Robert MacLean, Jordan's sister, Lucile Currell, and his cousins, played by Doris Garner and Beth Hubbard, meet Susan. Judge Jordan finally proposed to Barnabetta, and the curtain falls upon a most happy ending.

THE PROM AT ATWATER COLLEGE

JUNIOR PLAY

"THE College Widow," a comedy in four acts, was successfully presented by the Junior class of Washington Senior High School, under the direction of Miss Ina Hibbard on November 20, 1931. The entire action of the play takes place on or near the campus of Atwater College.

G. Julis W. Van Orsdol
F. Eby W. Carr M. Morton

Jane Witherspoon, Frances Eby, who is known as the "College Widow," is the daughter of Peter Witherspoon, William Van Orsdol, the president of Atwater College. She is noted for her ability to persuade young men to become Atwater's football players.

Junior Shaver, in the role of Hiram Bolton, who has endowed Bingham College, a rival college of Atwater, has come to pay a visit to his old friend, Peter Witherspoon. He brings with him his son, Billy Bolton, George Julis, whom he expects to enroll at Bingham. Jane Witherspoon quite easily persuades Billy to attend an Atwater reception and succeeds in winning him over to enroll at Atwater and to play with the Atwater football team. In the meantime Hiram Bolton leaves for Europe thinking that his son is attending Bingham College. He returns to see the football game between Atwater and Bingham and is surprised and very much displeased to find Billy playing for Atwater for which college he makes the winning touchdown.

THE FOOTBALL HERO

JUNIOR PLAY

Since the play is of the college type, it has the usual loving chaperon in Mrs. Dalzell, portrayed by Muriel Morton. There is also the hard driving football coach in Warren Carr. Ollie Mitchell, Donald Forbes, added humor to the play by many clever remarks about "Silent" Murphy, Bob Brosh. Ted Pearson, Richard Check, was the ladies' man. A love affair between the athletic trainer, Avery Gage, and the prominent college waitress Flora Higgins, played by Betty Smythe, creates much comedy. Another love affair between the college playboy, Stubby Tallmage, and Bessie, a girl of the athletic type, is most amusing. The parts were played by Chester Petranek and Doris Garner respectively. The play also has the old-fashioned "Prof." This role of Prof. Talbot was admirably played by Walter Jones. "Bub Hicks," played by Paul Caldwell, the bashful farmer boy, and his proud father, Fred Kubias, member of the State Senate, also added humor to the play.

The leading characters were well supported by a cast consisting of the usual popular boys and girls of the school, who furnished a constant run of comedy for the main plot which finally culminates in the marriage of Jane Witherspoon and Billy Bolton.

A large and appreciative audience witnessed this splendid production.

INTER-CLASS DEBATE TOURNAMENT

THE first annual Washington High Inter-Class debate tournament was launched in October by Mr. Harry R. Peterson, debate coach. Twenty-two pupils, representing all six classes, participated. After a period of preparation on the Unemployment Insurance question, the group was divided into eleven teams for the tournament proper. After a series of fifteen debates the tournament was conceded to the 12B and 12A debaters, who were awarded a Traveling Debate Trophy. Those representing the classes were William Whipple, Lewis Alcorn, Bob Frederick, Wade Patterson, Ronald Wilson, Marjorie Capron, 12A; Robert Vane, Howard Tellier, 12B; Norman Berg, Donald Wilson, 11A; Marguerite Hyten, Margaret Kampmeier, Gladys Dawson, John Blomquist, 11B; Robert Hanson, Lewis Holtman, 10A; Maxine Randa, Beatrice Bockhaus, Ganson Byers, Sandoe Jordan, Richard Avedovech, Woodrow Catherman, 10B. The upper-ranking ten tournament debaters were placed on the all-Washington debate team.

The debate season of Washington was opened on December 3 with a Demonstration debate between the University of Iowa and the University of Nebraska, before seven hundred pupils. On December 11 the first Affirmative debaters, Lewis Alcorn and William Whipple, met the Dubuque Negative in a non-decision tilt. The evening of December 15 the negative team, Bob Frederick and Robert Vane, journeyed to the University of Iowa to meet a Freshman team in a practice debate. The Iowa City Affirmative was defeated by Washington on January 7. A return visit was made to Dubuque by the Negative team on January 11. Vinton High succumbed to the Washington Negative on January 15. The following week the Affirmative team won over Iowa City and scored again over Marion on the 20th. Then followed a radio debate against Marion over station KWCR on January 28. The two closing debates of the season against Maquoketa were lost by narrow margins. The season closed on February 9, with a record of seven decisions out of nine debates.

THE SEASON

Under the direction of Miss Genevieve Dotson, the second annual declamatory contest took place in Benjamin Franklin Auditorium on December 12, 1931, with the above named pupils having survived the elimination contests in which fifty pupils had originally competed. Together with two original orations, with no duplications of selections in last year's program, and with a marked increase in general interest, this program showed a decidedly progressive step in our declamatory work.

The following placed first and second respectively in the local contest: William Whipple, Roma Mae Sabin; Richard Westerfield, Helen Stark; Mildred Marling, Betty Reitz.

At the Preliminary Contest between Lisbon, Grant, and Washington High Schools held February 26, 1932, in our school Library, Roma Mae Sabin and Richard Westerfield placed first and Mildred Marling, second.

At the Sub-district Contest at Marion, Richard Westerfield placed second, while Roma Mae Sabin, who took William Whipple's place when the latter graduated in January, had the honor of representing Washington High School in the Sub-district, Pre-district, and District Contests in oratory, a distinction rarely won by a girl in this department of public speaking.

THE COACHING STAFF

WASHINGTON High School is especially fortunate in having Coach Rust in charge of the Tigers' coaching staff. Rust succeeded Kelly in the fall of 1930 and was previously engaged at Webster City as head coach in football, track, and basketball where he turned out exceptional teams. He is a graduate of the University of Des Moines and left an outstanding record in athletics, in football, and basketball at that school. He has proved his ability as a coach by putting Washington High on its way to state fame, recalling honors of days gone by. We feel quite confident that in the future the student body of Washington will be proud of its representation in athletics. The coach asks support both in school and on the practice field.

Mr. Paulu is in charge of track and is especially suited for this job, having been a prominent track man himself as well as once a holder of a world's record. Besides a track coach Mr. Paulu is well learned in football particulars and is assistant coach in that field. His faithful service in athletics at Washington should be commended and appreciated for he has molded outstanding track teams of Bengals for many years. He also makes a plea for support in track, especially to the incoming sophomores.

Mr. Lavell specializes in coaching the sophomore basketball team. In the 1931-32 season for the first time the sophomores had their own conference schedule. He showed his ability at coaching by tying for first in the conference. Mr. Lavell also is an assistant coach in football, and does a good job at "toughening up" the "sophs" for future varsity work.

FOOTBALL SEASON

THE Washington football season of 1931 has been a success for the first time in many years. The Tigers won 5 out of 8 scheduled games and defeated a strong Chicago team, making a total of 6 from 9 victories. The team as a whole was inexperienced in the beginning, having but two lettermen from 1931; but they became hardened veterans soon after their first defeat by a strong West Waterloo team. The Tigers proved their strength in the next game with Clinton, a conference team, by beating them with the only touchdown made. In the next game the Tigers overwhelmed a determined St. Ambrose team by a score of 65 to 0. The next game, the Tigers' only conference upset, was lost to Dubuque, by a score of 19-8. The following week they came back and won from Ottumwa by a score of 27 to 0. After Pep Week, spent in preparation for the East Des Moines game, the Tigers were set back for the last time by a score of 6 to 13. The two conference games following were listed as victories. The first, with Iowa City, was won 20 to 0. The second was the season's struggle with Grant on Thanksgiving Day, when both teams battled for the city championship the first time the schools had ever met on the gridiron. By crushing a Chicago team 18 to 6 in an extra game Washington proved that Iowa high schools also play good football. The Tigers have started their comeback in state recognition by tying Davenport for the second place in the conference; next season they hope to better their record, and they ask the support of every member of the school.

FOOTBALL LETTER MEN

1. Robert Schwerke — Bob's accurate passing and banging defensive play were important factors in making the season a success. He will be back at center next fall.

2. William Neff — Bill was an alternate at the tackle position and proved to be capable of filling this responsibility. He will be back next fall.

3. Robert McCaffrie — Bob was not a spectacular player but he filled a guard position satisfactorily. As a sophomore beginning his work he shows fine possibilities.

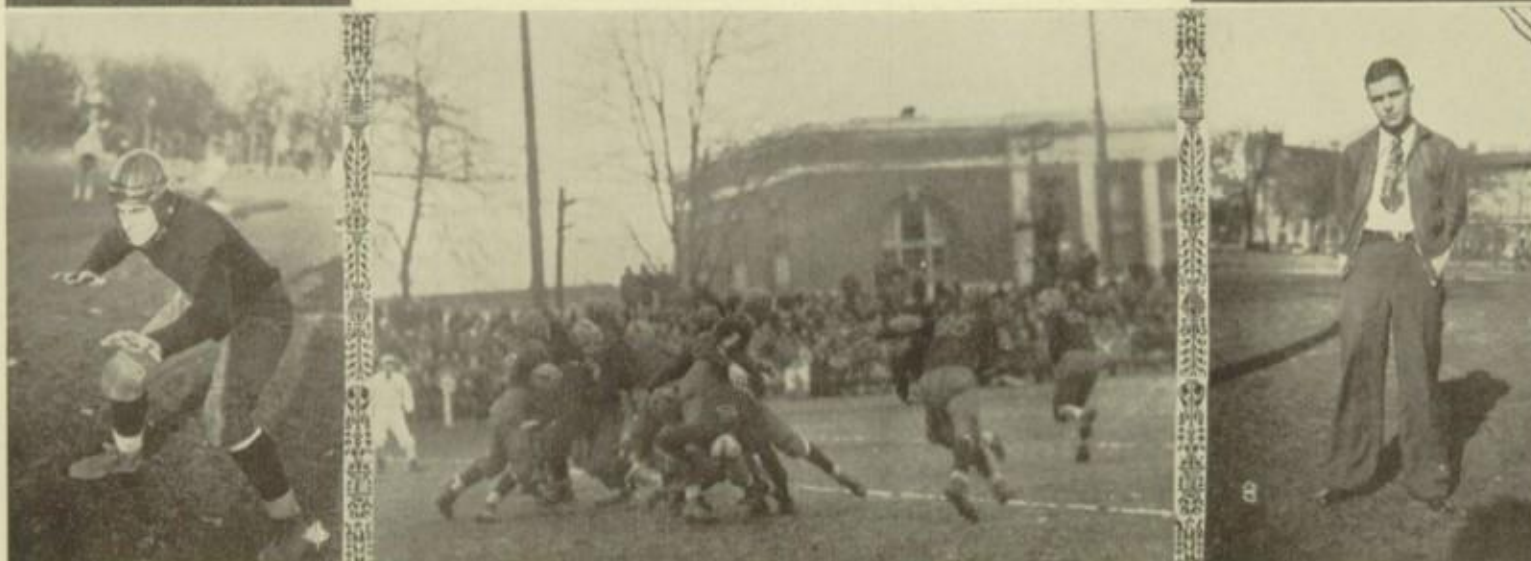

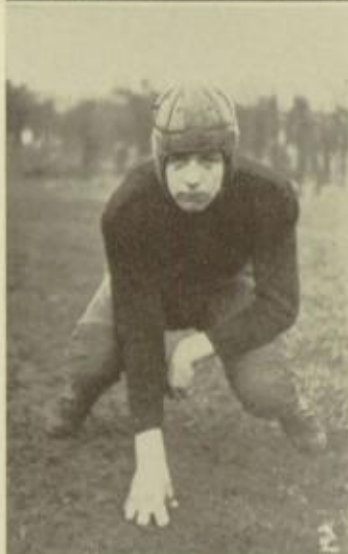

4. Peter Salvage — Pete, in spite of stiff competition at the end position, came through to win a well-earned letter in his last year of football.

5. Robert McKinstry — Although "Ike" was hampered by injuries, he upheld his position at tackle pluckily and played a fighting game throughout the season.

6. Duane Blackwell — "Blacky" was a tower of strength at his tackle position. His blocking and defensive work were outstanding at times. He will be back.

7. Donald Hillier — Don held his guard position like a stone wall throughout the season. His tiger spirit offered much inspiration. He will also be back.

8. Joe Baker — Joe was always on hand and proved to be a first-rate manager as well as a good trainer and assistant coach.

FOOTBALL LETTER MEN

1. Royal Redel—"Toopy" was exceptionally fast on his feet, making it easy for him to skirt the ends for long gains. He made fourth team as all-state halfback.

2. James Nance—Jim, hard-working end, was always fighting until the final whistle blew. He is only a sophomore so—watch out, opponents.

3. Jerry Dedek—"Cunky Boy," a hard-blocking halfback, whose tackling and blocking will be missed. It was his first and last year at high school football.

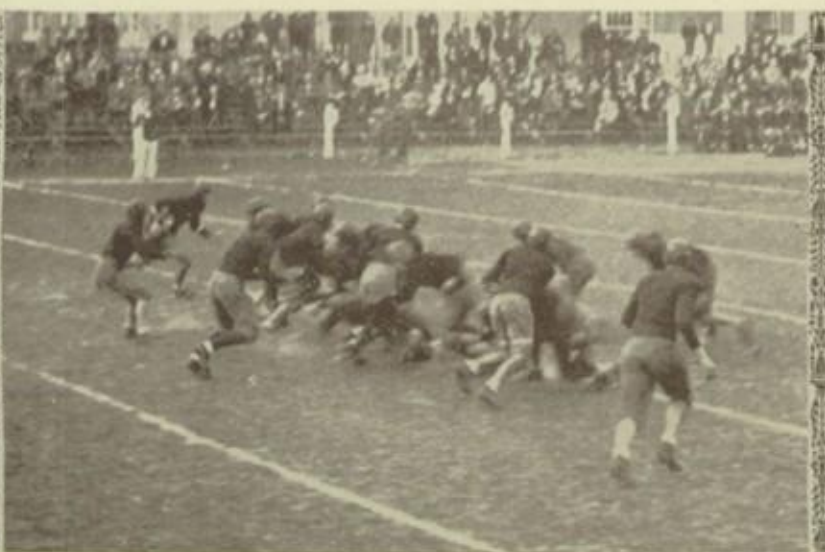

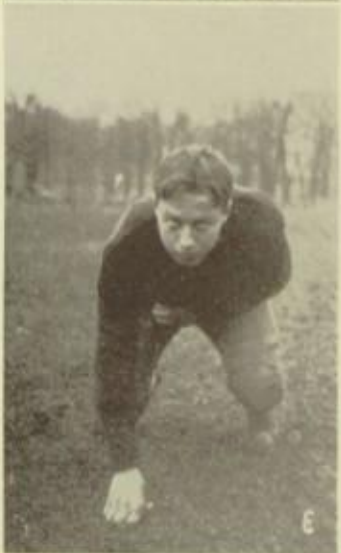

4. James Carrithers—Jim, a quarterback, was the season's first bad break. Forced from competition early in the season, he returned in time to win a letter.

5. Joe Schneider—After a year at end, Joe developed into a cool-headed quarterback. His returning kicks and his slicing the ends made good gains.

6. Frank Jakoubek—An end specializing in everything: snagging passes, smearing interference, and hard tackling. "Fritz" received second team all-state honors.

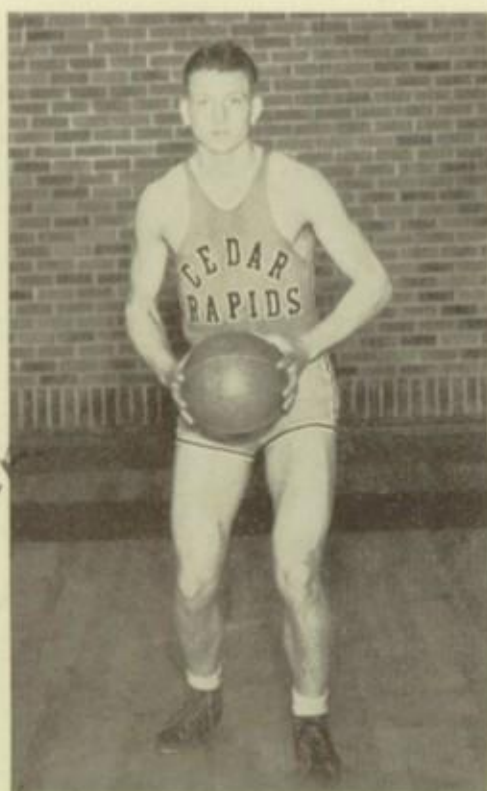

7. Merle Mihulka—"Mike" finished his last year of football as fullback and captain of the team. He was a consistent player whose position will be hard to fill.

8. Joe Reyna—"Laddy," a smooth running sophomore halfback, used his speed to good advantage at cutting off tackle.

Frank Jakoubek—"Fritz" made an excellent record as first string center. He played a banging floor game and had his share of baskets in each game. He ranked high in the state and will be back next season to prove his worth to its full extent. Joe Schneider—Joe made his hit at forward by taking the scoring honors after Wells finished his competition. He was high in the conference scoring and fast and accurate in floor work. Joe finished his high school competition this year. Wendell Wells—"Wendy's" record was soiled by promotion, but while in competition he was high point man on the team and ranked high in the conference. His floor game was as good as his ability at dropping the ball through the basket.

He will be back to finish off his record as an all-around good player. Wendell Delzell—Delzell came through at the end of the semester to fill Wells' vacancy in good style. He played a fighting game throughout, and was a dead eye for the basket. The Tigers regret that he cannot be available next season. Joe Reyna—"Ozone," although a sophomore at the start of the season, proved a very capable player and showed strong defensive ability, and made occasional baskets from back of the foul line. BASKETBALL SEASON

THE 1931-32 basketball team of Washington High has just finished its season as one of the most successful teams in the Tigers' history. As in football the team tied Davenport in the conference for second place. Out of 14 scheduled games the Tigers won 8; losing 3 games in the conference and 3 other scheduled games. At the semester the team was unfortunate in losing two players, one being a forward with outstanding ability and the other a very capable "shock troop."

TOURNAMENT

With a good season behind them the Tigers traveled to Keystone to take part in the sectional tournament which almost led them to the state championship. Here they overwhelmed Toledo and Vinton by high scores, giving them the right to participate in the district meet at Waverly. They upset Waukon 54-14 and surprised the fans by beating the strong West Waterloo team by a 5 point advantage.

At the state tournament at Des Moines in the Drake Stadium, the Tigers were among the favorites. They won from Ottumwa in an overtime period, but in the next game with Boxholm they lost their opportunity by being eliminated in one of the tournament's biggest upsets.

This is the second year for Coach Rust and it is a good example of what a well-coached team can do. We can look into the future for basketball at Washington and it looks very rosy as we only lose two players via the graduation route. The tournament team consists of Schneider, Delzell, Reyna, Schwerke, Everetts, Nance, Rodriguez, Gray, Magnussen, and Jakoubek.

SOPHOMORE SEASON

THE current basketball season, just ended, saw for the first time each school in the conference represented by a sophomore team.

The local team, under the direction of Mr. Carr B. Lavell, who has had charge of sophomore athletics for the past three years, finished in a tie with Davenport for first place.

Rodriguez and Hruska, forwards on the local team, were among the leading scorers in the conference.

Most of the season saw Jim Nance playing center. Jim was never out-jumped during the season, and his control of the tip meant much to his team mates. Nance always played a strong defensive game and held his man to few points. Jim arose to the heights in the first Davenport game, playing his best game of the season.

The guards were handled by McCaffrie and Lowe who proved to be the best pair of guards in the conference. Seldom do beginning players handle themselves so well, but Bob and Lyle managed the ball, kept their men covered, and were always cool and full of fight. McCaffrie was named honorary captain.

In addition to the usual five that started the games the team was aided greatly by the good playing of Wilson, Schindler, Toms, Shaffer, Kinch, Waples, and Savel.

At the close of the regular season Rodriguez and Nance were transferred to the varsity squad, both performing well in tournament games.

Numerals are being awarded to the players complying with the standards set up by the Athletic Department.

Coach Lavell asks that all aspiring sophomore basketball players report next season.

TRACK SEASON

WITH a group of veteran sprinters and a wealth of material Coach Paulu developed an outstanding track team. The most consistent point winners were captain Nehls, Grout, Myers, and Evans—the sprint relay team. Stookey became one of the excellent high jumpers in the state. Nehls was exceptional in the 220 and 100 yd. dash along with Grout, who also was a mainstay on the relay team. Evans and Myers of the relay team were consistent hurdlers. Galvin specialized at the shot put and ran the 440 yd. relay

TRACK SEASON

At the Drake relays the 440 yard relay team came through with a fourth place.

At Grinnell the Tigers secured seven fourth places as well as high honors and came through with a fifth place. In spite of stiff competition, the Tigers showed great improvement.

The district meet was held at Marshalltown and in spite of heavy rainfall and cold weather the team ended the meet in third place.

In the state meet Stookey distinguished himself by taking third place in the high jump. The 880 yd. relay team completed the Tigers' score by taking fourth place.

The first outdoor conference meet was held at Davenport against stiff competition. The Tigers emerged in fourth place. Stookey again distinguished himself by setting a new record in the high jump.

In order to bring the season to a close the Tigers defeated Grant in a dual meet 56-52. So in a fitting manner the Tigers ended another satisfactory track season and gained honor for Washington High.

BOYS' HEALTH CLASSES

THE program of the boys' health classes this year has been much the same as previously. Each class is divided into four groups, each group naming themselves such as: "Popeyes," "Nertz," "Pansies," and "Drawbacks." Each team, consisting of six boys, selects a captain and two assistants. Each captain takes charge of his own group. It is the captain's duty to get his men lined up for the various events, to keep track of the points made during a basket shooting game, and to help any person on his side. The captain also referees, and the assistant captain keeps score.

Due to the lack of space for a more varied schedule, the health classes have to center their interests around the games, basket shooting and volley ball. The basket shooting game, next to volley ball, is the most important event. Two teams contest in this event. It is played in a limited amount of time, each team gets as many shots as the time permits, each person keeps his own score and after the game the captain gets the total score for the team. The team having the most baskets gets the points. The high point man in the class has his name, baskets made, and the team to which he belongs, put on the bulletin board.

The classes are made more exciting by having the point system. For events such as crab, Indian club, basketball, and weaver relay, points are given to the winner. Two teams compete each time.

Several very good records have been made in team competition. One boy made ten free throws out of ten trials. Many boys have high-jumped over five feet.

One team of six boys made 56 baskets (long shots) in fifteen minutes while competing in a basket shooting game. One boy made 21 baskets out of a possible 24, for an enviable record, during a basket shooting game.

The following boys passed in the hand-stand test for the first semester: John Stark, Chester Beardsley, Bob Hastings, Howard Clark, John Sheets, Meredith Strang, Russell Pendleton, Robert Hunnicutt, Richard Ritter, John Downing, Bruce Miller, Keith Cochran, Marlin Cox, and David Brown.

The list for the second semester was not ready in time to put in; this applies to both the hand-stand and all five events. The boys that passed in all five events are: John Stark, Chester Beardsley, Howard Clark, John Sheets, Russell Pendleton, Richard Ritter, and Marlin Cox.

In the fall and spring indoor baseball is the main event. This event gives every person a chance to see what the other pupils can do, and thus helps when the time comes to pick out the captains and their respective teams. In the spring the competition between the four teams is dropped. The class picks out the captains and assistant captains. These teams compete to the end of the term.

An average of fifteen boys a semester learn the hand-stand, due to the incentive of thereby earning five points for their respective teams.

GIRLS' HEALTH CLASSES

PADDLE tennis was introduced this fall and an elimination tournament was played in which every girl in the department took part; the champions were Bernice Woodson and Beatrice Woodward.

Volley ball was the next sport scheduled and the tournament between the health classes ended with the first period class victorious, with Margaret Kampmeier as their captain. An inter-class tournament ended with the 11B class in the lead with Bernice Woodson as their captain; the 10A class was second with Irma Gregor as captain.

Basketball, baseball and horse shoe were played in all classes, followed by interclass tournaments.

GIRLS' HEALTH CLASSES

THE aim in the Health Department is to encourage the greatest number of girls possible to participate in some form of physical activity for the improving of general health and posture; to develop grace of movement; to cultivate fairness in as well as love of sport.

Girls making ninety-five per cent receive a grade of A and a Cedar Rapids monogram, and may join the Girls' Athletic Club.

This system is used in grading: attendance, hygiene, stunts, dancing and walking each five per cent; costume inspection, posture, leadership, rules, test and games each ten per cent; achievements tests fifteen per cent.

GIRLS' COUNCIL

THE Girls' Council, under the leadership of Miss Rogers, our adviser, and Jeanne Ballantyne, our president, has completed its ninth successful year of service. This organization of twelve girls, chosen by their respective classes, aims to promote social democracy among the girls of the school, and is an organization through girls, by girls, and for girls.

The council sponsors the annual big and little sister movement, and this year it was especially successful for every girl coming to Washington in mid-semester was provided a big sister. The girls also take charge of the lost and found desk, where all lost materials are turned in.

Every week a thorough check is made of the girls who are ill, and they are either telephoned or sent some word of cheer.

One of the most enjoyable projects of this year was the decoration of the Christmas tree, which was provided by the Boys' Council. We hope that it helped to promote a Christmas atmosphere in our library during that season.

Every month a picnic supper is held at one of the girls' homes, which helps to bring the girls together so that they can understand and co-operate with one another better.

The officers of council this year are: President, Jeanne Ballantyne; Vice-President, Muriel Morton; Secretary, Nadgie Rohrbach.

BOYS' COUNCIL

THE Boys' Advisory Council, founded in the fall of 1928, has completed its fourth year of service to the school. The Council, established for the purpose of promoting social democracy among the boys, has since increased its activities to cover many phases of school life. Its members endeavor to uphold faithfully at all times the motto, "Monstrare non monstrari."

Under the supervision of Mr. Walter S. Estby the boys attempted to inaugurate a Washington High School Loan Fund. However, the institution met with opposition at every turn because of the depressed condition of business and the outside activities of other organizations to which they looked for support. The Council hopes in the future to make the idea a successful institution of Washington High School. The Council also fostered the little brother movement, and in conjunction with the Girls' Council arranged for the holiday school decorations. Probably the greatest work of this year's Council was the promotion of Pep Week. More enthusiasm was shown during this week than Washington High School has seen in many years. The week was marked by elaborate decorations and by a parade before the game with East High of Des Moines.

The Boys' Council is composed of six members, one from each class. The boys' counselor and alumni constitute honorary members.

SOPHROSYNE

SOPHROSYNE Society is the local chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools. The constitution of this organization recognizes four cardinal objectives as fundamental in education: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The purpose of the society is to exalt and hold these objectives ever before the school as goals toward which all should strive. The aim is to keep before the school such motives as shall induce others to aspire to scholarly habits, enlisting in worthy service, and leading forward in all things that shall advance the welfare of the school.

The emblem is the keystone and flaming torch. The keystone bears at its base the letters S, L, C, and S for the principles of the organization. The keystone represents the firm and true purposes of life, and the flaming torch is the symbol of our purpose, to bear forward the searching light of truth, to lead that others may follow in the light, to keep burning in our school a high ambition for the enduring values of life, and to serve.

The membership of Sophrosyne consists of those in the upper one-fourth of the class. All teachers participate in the nominations for membership, basing recommendations on the four cardinal principles.

The officers are: Jean Ballantyne, President; Mary Gage, Vice-President; and Gertrude Conrad, Secretary-Treasurer.

QUILL AND SCROLL

QUILL and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, has three aims: to foster the ideals of scholarship; to improve the standards of journalism by developing better journalists, and by inculcating a higher code of ethics, and to promote exact and dispassionate thinking, clear and forceful writing. The motto of the society is: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

The local chapter of Quill and Scroll was installed in February, 1927, with twenty-seven charter members. Since that time one hundred and eleven additional members have taken the pledge of alliance. On March 22, Miss Ives, joint sponsor with Miss Quigley, with the assistance of Virginia Kuning and Merlin Morris, officers pro tempore, installed twenty-one new members in the Martha Washington Room, with the members of the other national honorary societies of the school witnessing the assembly. These new members received their Quill and Scroll pins at an all-school assembly held on April 6th. This year the annual banquet of the society was given jointly with the members of Sophrosyne and National Athletic Scholarship Society.

TIGER ATHLETIC COUNCIL

THE Tiger Athletic Council was founded in 1922. Membership has been honorary, and admission is automatically granted to all athletes who have acquired a major letter. Membership also includes a correct mental attitude and good sportsmanship, coupled with athletic ability.

The aim of the Council is to encourage athletic participation and to improve the standard of athletics.

A new pin has been adopted for the first time since the founding of the organization. The emblem is a tiger's head, and a guard which signifies the year of graduation. The business of the Council consists mostly of actions taken on the athletic problems which arise in the school.

Regular meetings were held two times a month, and several get-togethers and fellowships were features of its other activities.

The officers appointed by Coach Rust were: President, Merle Mihulka; Vice-President Donald Hillier; Secretary, Frank Jakoubek; Treasurer, Bob Schwerke. The lettermen of football include: Schneider '30-'31, Wells '30, Carrithers '31, Redel '31, Nance '31, Neff '31, McKinstry '30-'31, Blackwell '31, Hillier '31, Schwerke '31, Jakoubek '31, Salvage '31, Dedek '31, McCaffrie '31, Reyna '31. NATIONAL ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

THE National Athletic Scholarship Society is formed for the purpose of fostering high scholarship, and of developing more outstanding leaders among the boys who participate in athletics in the secondary schools of the United States. It is a national organization with chapters in every state in the Union and its value has been generally recognized in the schools which maintain chapters by the establishment of a higher scholastic standard.

Membership in the society is limited to those boys who earn a letter in one of the three major sports, or letters in two minor sports; who have an average in their school work for three consecutive semesters equal to or higher than the general average; and who have shown the highest type of citizenship and sportsmanship.

The organization was introduced at Washington High School in 1927 by our athletic director, Leonard Paulu, who has served as critic since its formation.

The emblem of the Society is a key, on which are the letters "A" and "S" that stand for athletics and scholarship. These words also serve as the motto of the Society.

There are at present eight members in the Washington High School Chapter, who are: Duane Blackwell, James Carrithers, Wendell Delzell, Donald Hillier, Bob Johnson, William Neff, Peter Salvage, and Joe Schneider.

THE "400"

ART has an educational importance very often overlooked. To appreciate Art, it is necessary to understand it from many angles. Some think it is a waste of time, but if proper thought is given to Art it proves very fascinating. It is the aim of the "400" Club to encourage its members to strive toward this goal, and under the guidance of Miss Witwer and Mr. Zeman they have advanced steadily.

The club, established in 1927, and named after the number of the Art room, is open to both boys and girls, whether or not they are students in the Art department. Club meetings are held the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the Art room, or at the Little Gallery. Contests and sketching parties were given the spring semester. For their fall social event, the club members held a picnic supper and dancing party in the Martha Washington room, on November 18. For a spring social event, the members sponsored a theater party on April 27.

Officers for the fall semester were: President, Isabelle Smith; Vice-President, Maurene Munger; Secretary, Elizabeth Melberg; Treasurer, Anne Sexton; and Pulse Reporter, Letha Lyon. Officers for the spring semester are: President, Maurene Munger; Vice-President, Barbara Lindsey; Secretary, Elizabeth Melberg; Treasurer, Charles McKim; and Pulse Reporter, Floyd Nassif.

SCIENTIFIC SEARCHERS

THE Scientific Searchers Club is open to both boys and girls who are interested in the advancement of science whether it be biology, chemistry, physics or some other science. Miss Hilda Horn is their critic, and the club has shown considerable progress under her direction.

The meetings, held on Thursday of every other week, have proved to be entertaining as well as instructive. At one of the meetings Elaine Shonka discussed, in an interesting manner, specimens of butterflies and moths from her own private collection.

In February the group went on an industrial trip. They visited the Blue Valley Creamery, examining the testing, pasteurizing, and churning processes. From there the members went through the Water Works where they saw the reservoirs, filter rooms, and laboratories.

Plans for the spring are promising, including a field trip, demonstrations in chemistry and physics by an outside speaker, and a final party.

Officers for the first semester were President, William Van Orsdol; Vice-President, Warren Carr; Secretary, Lepha Embree; Treasurer, Elliott Waples; Pulse Reporter, Veda Richards; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Cyril Noon.

For the second semester: President, Elaine Shonka; Vice-President, Eleanor Houge; Secretary, Vivian Ives; Treasurer, Margaret Grissel; Pulse Reporter, Virginia Weld; Sergeant-at-Arms, Culver Brooks; and Bulletin Board, Kathryn Hefner.

The present enrollment is very encouraging with thirty-eight active members.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

LE Cercle Francais, founded in 1927, aims to create a greater appreciation for, and knowledge of, the achievements of France as shown in its customs, history, art, literature, and institutions. The colors of the society are "bleu, blanc, et rouge," the flower is the fleur-de-lys, and the motto is "Liberte, egalite, fraternite."

Regular bi-weekly meetings of the club are held. At these meetings French books have been reviewed, French plays have been dramatized, and the biographies of famous French writers have been studied. French music and stories of French musicians have also been given.

Membership, besides complying with the rules of the exccular committee, requires at least one semester of French with an average grade of C or above.

The social events of the year included a party in January, and the annual party in May. These affairs are in special honor of the senior members to whom diplomas are given. Picnic suppers have also been enjoyed.

The officers of the society for the fall semester were: President, Mary Gage; Vice-President, Catherine Palmer; Secretary, Helen Larimer; Treasurer, Rosemae Johnson. Spring semester: President, Gertrude Conrad; Vice-President, Helen Ely; Secretary, Marian Bruner; Treasurer, Rosemae Johnson.

PATRICIANS

THE good ship, "Patricians," flying its colors of purple and white, slowly steams out of the harbor after being dry docked for three years undergoing repairs. We shout "Bon Voyage" as we stand at the deck, and we wish them fair weather. Yet neither fair weather nor foul will deter the ship from its course; it has an experienced captain, Miss Eva Byerly, and well informed first mate, Miss Caroline Soutter.

Its officers for the fall semester were: Consul, Margaret Grissel; Praetor, Irene Harrington; Aedile, Evelyn Hall; Quaestor, Eleanor Hunting; and Scriba, George Nelson. For the spring semester: Consul, William Van Orsdol; Praetor, Maurice Crone; Aedile, Bernice Curran; Quaestor, Robert Gable; Scriba, Sarah Huntington; Censor, Marian Hunting. These people were and are all working to promote fuller appreciation of Roman life and literature. They have succeeded in their aim with the result that the meetings have been most entertaining. Reports on books concerning Roman life, Latin plays, Latin songs, and discussion of current doings in Italy have constituted the activities. A new experiment is being tried in the club in that the meetings are held during school hours in the Martha Washington room the last Friday of each month.

BETTER GREGG ARTISTS

THE Better Gregg Artists have been organized in order to establish a foundation for a better understanding of the business profession.

The constitution has been changed in order to fit in well with the excular code, thereby allowing girls to join who have passing grades, who are taking Shorthand 2, and who are interested in the commercial courses.

The programs generally consist of reports on people who have made a success in the business world. There have been a few musical numbers, readings, and skits which, in order to emphasize the importance of dignity in an office, presented the point at hand in a ridiculous fashion. To vary the routine a visit was made to an office for one meeting, and several picnic suppers in connection with the regular meetings were enjoyed in the Martha Washington room. Each semester girls in the Shorthand classes are given special invitations to the meeting at which time an entertainment is given and refreshments are usually served. This organization is under the direction of Miss Boyack and Miss Chapman.

The officers for the fall semester were: President, Florence Nemec; Vice-President, Gladys Salasek; Secretary and Treasurer, Vera Winne; Pulse Reporter, Henrietta Hekl. For the spring semester they are: President, Shirley Brown; Vice-President, Bernice Mitvalsky; Secretary and Treasurer, Dorothy Kastanek; Pulse Reporter, Pauline Melvin.

LITERATAE

"We have not wings, we cannot soar,
 But we have feet to scale and climb,
 By slow degrees, by more and more,
 The cloudy summit of our time."

ONE feels almost sure that the members of Literatae will reach the summit, for they carry on such interesting work. At each meeting, on alternate Wednesdays, held in the Martha Washington room or at the homes of members, the girls have given short plays, book reports, some instrumental solos, and poems. It is required that the initiate recite a short poem before being made a member of this club. The girls enjoy each other's comradeship as they work side by side, and they feel that the club has strengthened their influence for good and their power of achievement. The social event this year was a banquet held at the Dora Lea Inn, followed by a theatre party.

Officers for the fall semester were: President, Doris Garner; Vice-President, Betty Reitz; Secretary, Onalee Smith; Treasurer, Dorothy Watland. For the spring semester they are: President, Jeanne Ballantyne; Vice-President, Helen Frantz; Secretary, Margaret Markert; Treasurer, Muriel Morton.

EX LIBRIS

IN October, 1931, the Ex Libris Club was founded by Miss Janet Arie, Librarian, with the assistance of Miss Grace Tathwell. The purpose of the club is to gain a better knowledge of present day books.

Anyone who likes to read, is interested in modern literature, and meets the requirements presented by the excular committee is eligible for membership.

Regular meetings are held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, either in the Martha Washington room or at the home of one of the members. At these meetings new poetry is read, new books are reviewed, and their authors discussed. During the first semester of this year emphasis was placed upon authors of Iowa and of the middle west. During the second semester, authors of foreign countries were also studied.

Picnic suppers are often provided at regular meetings. Literary stunts are carried out, and a pantomime is now in preparation.

The officers for the fall semester have been: President, Walter Staves; Vice-President, Robert Downing; Secretary, Marian Bruner; Treasurer, Onalee Smith; Pulse Reporter, Robert Downing. ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

ALPHA Sigma Alpha, the oldest society for girls at Washington High School, was organized in 1907 and was named for Abigail Stone Abbott, who was principal of this school for many years.

The aim of the society is "To encourage debating among the girls and to further the social and moral welfare of its members." In carrying out this aim, the society conducts at each meeting an interesting debate among four girls with three other members acting as judges.

The flower is the red rose, and the colors are blue and black. The motto is, "Achieve something always."

As a social event for the fall semester a Christmas party was given just before the holidays. The scene was made festive by carrying out the Christmas greens and reds. For the spring social event the organization is celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding.

Miss Combs, our experienced critic, has helped to make this year most successful for A. S. A.

ERODELPHIANS

THE Erodelfian Society for senior girls aims to inspire an appreciation of good literature, music, and art. During the past year the members of the society have enjoyed their meetings while keeping in mind their motto, which is "There is always room at the top of the ladder."

Many opportunities for originality and discovery of talents have presented themselves in the programs of the society. The bi-weekly programs consist of musical solos, reviews of authors, books and plays, and snappy skits and dramatizations. Picnic suppers were held once a month at the home of a member in place of the regular meeting. The first semester social event was a Christ-

Girls receiving A in Health, and no F's and not more than one D in their major subjects, are eligible to become members of G. A. C.

The club's various activities of the year have been hikes, wiener roasts, ice skating, swimming, basketball, and a party for the Grant Girls' Athletic Association, besides a week-end excursion to the Boy Scout Cabin in the Anamosa State Park.

The club also participated in a High School Girls' Swimming Play Day at the Iowa University, March 12th, at the invitation of the Women's Honorary Swimming Club.

The G. A. C. officers for the fall semester were: President, Margaret Krebs; Vice-President, Marian Hepner; Secretary, Helen Ely; Treasurer, Ruth Toogood; Pulse Reporter, Elizabeth Jackson; Social Chairman, Virginia Kuning. Officers for the spring semester are: President, Marian Hunting; Vice-President and Social Chairman, Beatrice Woodward; Treasurer, Edith Hersch; Pulse Reporter, Letha Lyons; Warden, Opal Huntley.

CECILIANs

ST. Cecilia, patroness of music, gives to Cecilians their name and ideals. They take as their colors, green and white; their flower, the white rose; and their motto, "Music washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life." Cecilians strive, through music, to realize the beauty of things about them, and to cultivate true love for music, putting a fuller meaning into their songs.

The Cecilian officers for the fall semester were: President, Margaret Krebs; Vice-President, Ruth Toogood; Treasurer, Muriel Morton; Secretary, Beth Hubbard; Social Chairman, Marian Dietz; Pulse Reporter, Frances Jesina; Librarians, Rosemae Johnson and Lois Richardson. Those for the spring semester: President, Ruth Nehls; Vice-President and Social Chairman, Marion Hepner; Treasurer, Jane Anderson; Secretary, Elizabeth Jacus; Pulse Reporter, Marian Dietz; Librarians, Helen Roselle, Maxine Brown, Dorothy Miller.

During the year Cecilians have penetrated the storehouses of information upon contemporary artists, symphony orchestras and their directors, and composers, with the satisfactory result of becoming more familiar with these terms and peoples, in addition to performing before social and civic organizations. Solo work has also been done to strengthen the ensemble.

Cecilians have found an incentive toward a deeper appreciation of music and its values as well as a personal inspiration from their director, Miss Jess Chaney.

In January and September teas were given for all the new girls. During the year, programs given were: Candle Light Recognition service, Flower Recognition service, one act plays, and style shows. In addition to a Leap Year dance, several all school dances were given.

In the summer of 1931, the Hi-Y-Ette girls, Mary Jane McRaith, Joyce Palmer, Elizabeth Melberg, Evangeline Dennis, with Mrs. Hayes, attended the Girl Reserve Conference at Lake Okoboji and a large number of the Hi-Y-Ette girls attended camp at Wapsie Y.

HI-Y

THE Washington Hi-Y Clubs have as their purpose the creation and maintenance of high standards of Christian character in the high school and in the community.

Members are chosen from those of the student body who meet the requirements of the club cabinet at the time of election. There are about fifty members in the present enrollment of the club.

The desire of the cabinet is to arrange the programs so that they will be interesting and helpful. A new plan of meeting was inaugurated this year. Meetings were held three times a month at the Y. M. C. A. The first and third meetings were held in the evenings, and the second meetings were in the forms of luncheons and dinners. Each meeting was featured by a speaker, usually one of the prominent men in this vicinity.

The transaction of business matters and the planning of activities were done by the cabinet, whose membership includes Dick Westerfield, Howard Tellier, Bob Johnson, Bob McLean, Alex Sampson, Arthur Troyak, Merlin Morris, and Donald Hillier.

The main school officers that have charge of affairs are: President, Dick Westerfield; Vice-President, Howard Tellier; Secretary, Bob Johnson; Treasurer, Bob McLean.

The fall and spring semester dances, held at the Coe gymnasium recreation hall, featured the activities of the past year.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

A COMPLETE reorganization of the Boys' Glee Club has been under way from the first day of school in September until the present. To start the changes, the club has been under the direction of Mr. Donald E. Baum, who came to Washington in September. The first semester club was very much like clubs of the past. Mr. Baum soon succeeded in molding the club to his ideas, and the club also succeeded in fitting Mr. Baum to their ideas. The organization had several social meetings during the first semester and soon realized a genuine spirit of co-operation. With the advent of a new semester came the new glee club, no longer a full credit subject but backed by the same general ideas. The new club has been the largest ever assembled as a boys' glee club here, and increased numbers have served to increase the interest in the club. Socially it has suffered none by its large membership. Monthly meetings and frequent public appearances have marked the year's activities. In keeping with the general policy of change, the glee club has been meeting in the Y. W. C. A. since last fall. The club, true to tradition, has been accomplishing things for the fellows in it and striving to sustain the ideals of its instructor.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

IN recent years there has been renewed interest in a capella music throughout the country. The St. Olaf's choir of Northfield, Minnesota, has been a pioneer in this field, gaining a world-wide reputation. Within the last few years many of the large high schools have organized such groups, the choir of Flint, Michigan, being outstanding. So it was with pride that Washington High School organized its first choir this spring.

The choir is under the direction of Miss Jess Chaney and has the following officers: President, Donald DeFore; Vice-President, Doris Garner; Secretary, Russell Waldron; Treasurer, Aura McEwen; Pulse Reporter, Evangeline Dennis; Librarians, Esther Blake and Hazel Capron; Sergeant-at-Arms, Donald Forbes.

In no other field of vocal music is there such a wealth of beautiful material. From Italy has come the old church music of Palestrina and his contemporaries, while the merry madrigals of England furnish music for our gayer moments. Then, too, the modern Russian school has been responsible for many a pleasant hour of rich harmony. There is a real joy in re-creating something beautiful. That has been our privilege this year.

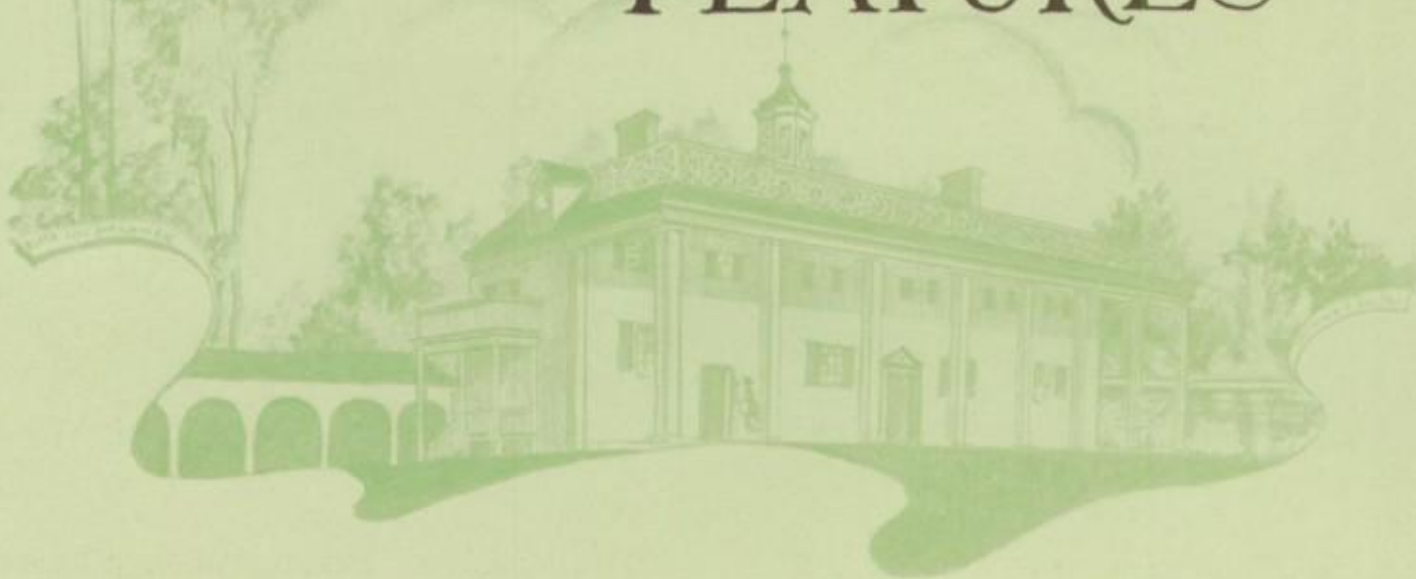

Though our organization is very young, we have taken an active place in the life of our community, singing at several churches, and appearing in the spring concert.

SPRING IN W. H. S.

Today through open windows
I breathed the breath of spring
So fresh, and sweet with clover scent
I felt just like a king!

Today through open windows
The smoke blew from the track;
I gasped and choked and fumed and sweat—
I know that spring is back!

WASHINGTON GLEANINGS

THE weather for the past few days, with the consent of the school board, has been fine, and enjoyed alike by teacher and pupil.

* *

The Hi-Y-Ettes report splendid progress in their magazine campaign to raise money to buy a new high school.

* *

News has leaked out that when we get a new high school there will be circulating ink in every room. This is good news for those who have been accustomed to filling their pens at the postoffice.

* *

"Not a pupil tardy during the Easter vacation is my fine record," says Miss Wilson. "When better excuses are invented our pupils will make them!"

* *

Spring training for the high jump and hurdle teams is progressing by leaps and bounds.

"No dead ones in my classes," says Musician Moehlmann. "Those who can't follow a tune always get the air."

* *

The office department has not been idle, what with extra curricular activities, fire drills and everything.

"'Every nose to its own grindstone' is my watchword," said Miss Grace DeNoon.

* *

"And all work and no play make Jack what he is," added Miss Grissel.

* *

Last week a small dog was found in the study hall. The Boys' Council was at once convened to formulate a plan for ejecting the dog, which was carried out.

"Bigger and better assignments is the only answer to the education problem today," declared Miss Lucile Powell, returning from a week-end spent on Mount Olympus.

"Twelve o'clock is none too early for growing girls to start to begin to think of commencing to get ready to go to bed," pronounced Miss Rogers, Dean of Fair Women.

Chief Engineer Adams, when interviewed, was found at his task of shoveling some of the new Iowa coal into the furnace. "Pretty soft," was his comment.

Professors Baum, Bonham, and Bowne were appointed a committee on noise, and we are listening for a report from these Big Shots.

OUR OWN WASHINGTON STORY

WHAT school celebrating the Washington Bicentennial has such a personal contact with the great Revolutionary leader as we have? At first, we thought only our name was related to Washington; now we learn we have in school a direct descendant of one who knew Washington well. Andrew Byerly, the ancestor of Miss Eva M. Byerly, fought under Washington in the French and Indian War. It seems that at one time, an Indian chieftain desired to run a footrace to prove his prowess against the white man. Finally, Andrew Byerly offered to run against the Redskin, and to the surprise of all, he won the race against the fleet-footed native. The time-keeper for this event was none other than George Washington, commander, who was destined to be future first President of the United States of America.

A little fib, a little lie,
A little bit of alibi.
This is the modern student's way
—But not so in George W's day!

SHORT SHAVINGS OF THE PEP PARADE

"THE old spirit is back again" . . . Shades of school days of the Novak regime . . . vehicles of every sort winding up historic First Avenue . . . school gaudily girdled with banners and color . . . Victorian surreys and bonnets of the naughty 'nineties . . . comedy in the prospective fate of East Des Moines (who wasn't doomed to such a tragic fate after all) . . . Roma Mae Sabin atop the Paramount "life-saver" car . . . Kanealy, Merritt, and Edwards in the O-fish-al Kar . . . Beardsley sailing along on his prize-winning bicycle . . . John Gable driving a miniature cemetery on his truck . . . noise . . . bands . . . streamers . . . hundreds of smiling faces . . . proud dads . . . and the great game was on!!

A GLEE CLUB ROMANCE

When the weather grows a trifle too calando,
And the tempo animato lamentando,
Then the maiden diligenza
Con amore claims licenza,
While regarding it as simply a scherzando.

When the loco risoluto pizzicato,
Loving largo ma non troppo moderato,
Meets her opus pentatonic
On the schottische orthophonic,
Then maestoso finds his morceau obligato.

L'ENVOI

When the perdendosi stalk misterioso,
Taking agitato brio grazioso,
Every other allegretto
Sighs con gusto rondoletto,
Making Ben Marcato deeply furioso.

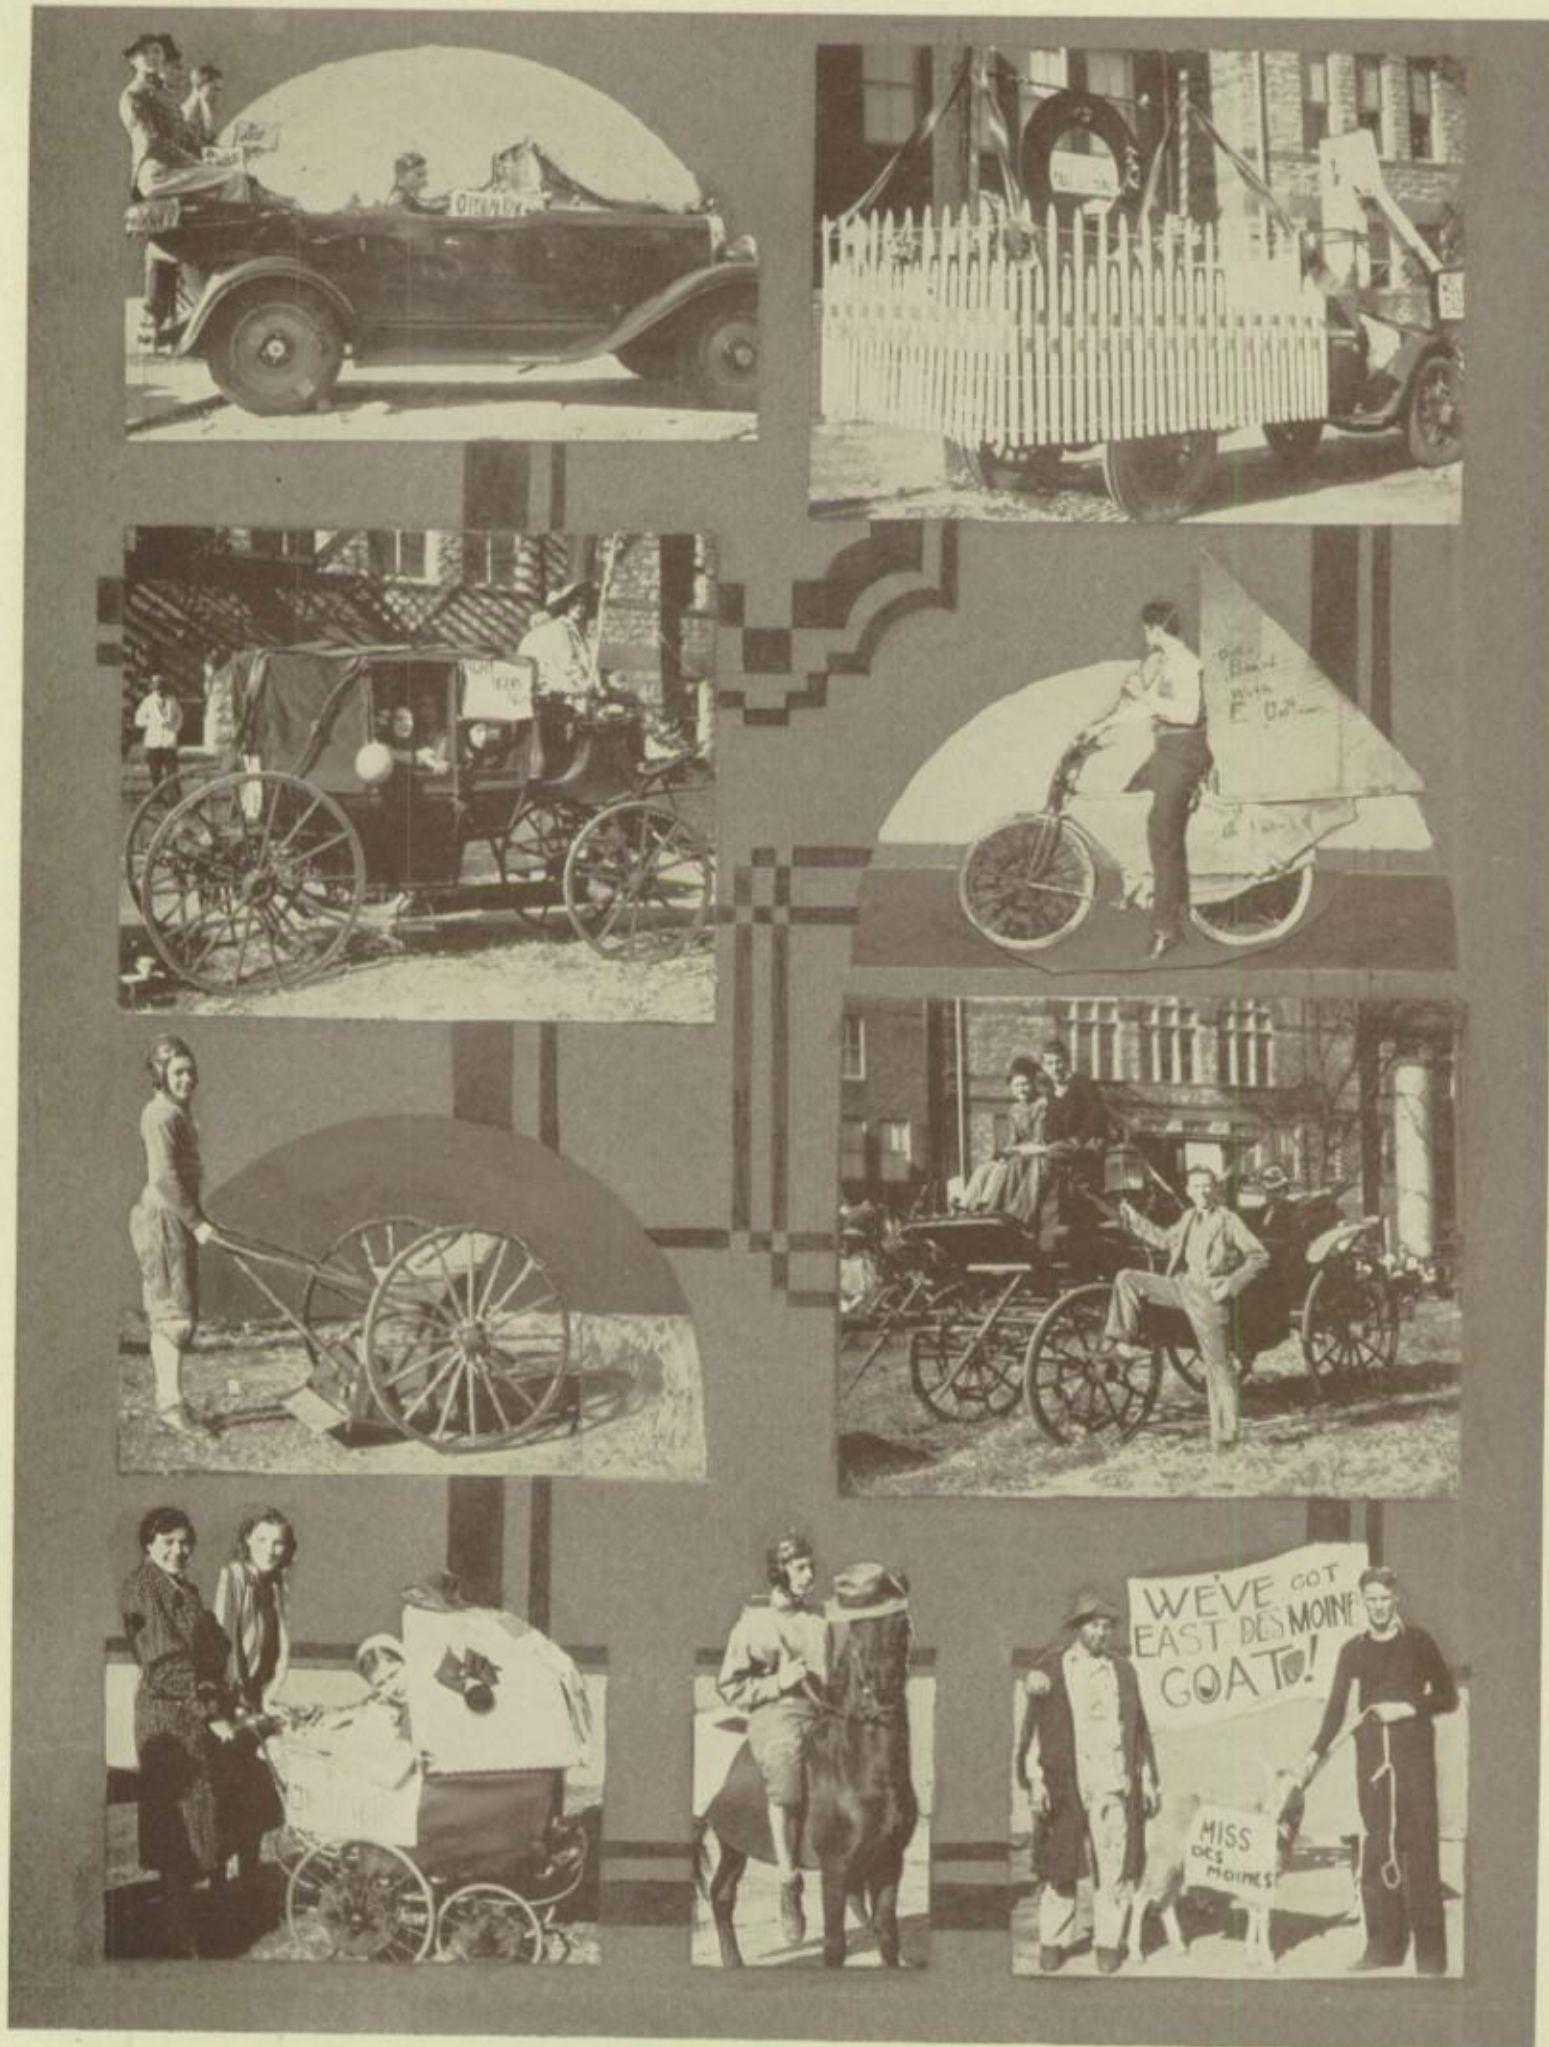

Ponticello alla zoppa presto mezza,
Sobbing gently a capella tenerezza,
Reaching in her portamento
For a poco piu lento,
Colla piu gran forzaza e prestezza!

THE PEP PARADE ---11-17-31

One day our high school got some pep,
And then you should have seen 'er step!
We had a parade full nine blocks long,
With all a warbling many a song!
Of tigers there were lots and lots,

Striped ones and even some with spots!
Goats, and coffins, and football men
Helped to make an eye full. Then
With a blaring band to lead us along
We marched; not dreaming our game'd go wrong!

Journalism Classes Use Television And Studywell Chairs For Editing Pulse

As the blue light flashed 23 pupils entered room 306 for an hour of Journalism. This room had just been furnished with new Studywell chairs designed by Russell Markert, class of '32. This chair is of the overstuffed Mohair type with small receptacles for books and accessories, disappearing elbow and foot rests, also retracting writing panels.

The editor of the class flashed television on the screen showing the desk and room of Professor Merlin Morris of the State Board of Education, who gave instructions for the preparation of the next edition of the Pulse.

The managing editor took the copies from the tube conveyor and gave them to the copy readers. In the meantime, Professor Morris was giving individual instructions to reporters concerning their stories.

The rest of the period was spent in writing and rewriting these stories, and soon a red light flashed them warning that there were only 10 minutes of the hour left. The editor collected all manuscripts; putting them into a long steel container, he slipped them into the tube, which carried them to Professor Morris. Hardly had this been done, when the blue light flashed, ending another hour of Journalism.

CRASH INJURES RICE

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rice received word today that their son, Percival, was severely hurt when his plane crashed near Paris, France, while making a missionary trip to Russia to see if the "Five Year Plan" of 1932 would be completed by 1970.

MADERA HEADS "PINK TEA CLUB"

Adolph Amber Madera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Madera, was elected president of the Pink Tea Club, while Jonathan "Dick" Brodie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brodie, was elected vice president. The purpose of this club is to teach the preschool children contract bridge.

ROBERT DOWNING ADVISES PUPILS TO FOLLOW IN FOOTSTEPS OF WISE MEN

Robert Downing, graduate of January class of 1932, and teacher of journalism in Washington high school, has recently presented to the library a copy of his latest book, "The Art of Writing." In this he advises all pupils having as their ambition merely the wish to "follow in his foot steps," to observe carefully the styles, wording, and results of his writings. He assures them, however, that not everyone can possibly attain the position he has reached, and as he intends to occupy it until the new school building is erected, it will be better for the good of all journalism pupils if they change the course of their life work. But when "Washington the New" is finally completed, he hopes that his two star pupils, Junior Morris and Buddy Merritt, the sons of his two old class-mates, will aid him if he cares to continue his work at that time.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MAY ADD THIRD WING TO HIGH SCHOOL

The Board of Education met Wednesday, November 16, 1962, to debate on question of adding a third "new" addition to the original Washington high school. The question was should a portion of the Greene Square be used as a place for the new part, since the block between the old school building and Fifth Avenue is filled by the two "old" additions.

Mr. Henry Spencer, president of the Board, claimed that if the school was good enough for him in 1932, it certainly ought to be good enough now with all the new parts and improvements.

Mr. Owen Hardendorf, principal of Washington high school, did not raise an objection, though his pent-house office on the roof was recently demolished by autogiros in landing.

The introduction of a bill to replace the old heating and ventilating system caused Mr. Jack Thompson to leave the room with hot disgust.

SCHNEIDER BECOMES COACH

Joe Schneider, class of '32, sailed today for tropical Africa, where he has accepted the position of head coach at Wa-Ha-Ha University, that famous institution for educating the native Africans. Schneider's good showing at the Olympics at Afghanistan last summer gained him this position.

ing human bodies of steel by physical strength, is now champion wrestler of the world. Last night Collins won his title by defeating the former champion, Hercules Sampson, who also graduated from Washington high school. Sampson put up a hard battle, but Collins' airplane spin laid Hercules low.

KNURR INHERITS FORTUNE

John Knurr, spring class of '32, fell heir to $10,000,000 by his courageous deed of saving John D. Rockefeller's life. John contributed $100 towards the new high school building.

HUNTING SUCCEEDS EDISON

Dresser Hunting, class of '32, is now filling the place of Thomas A. Edison, former renowned scientist.

SMITH TO TAKE POST-GRADUATE WORK

Jerome Smith, class of '62, is planning to take post-graduate work here next year.

SINGER COMPLETES TOUR

Joyce Palmer, class of '33, following in the footsteps of Madame Schumann Heink, just completed a concert tour through the Samoan Islands.

FORMER WASHINGTON-ITE LOSES LIFE AS NOSE SLIPS OFF WIRE

Mr. Jack Edwards, world-famous tight-wire artist, who has earned more than a million dollars by the feat, originated by himself, of hopping along a lofty wire on his nose, has finally met a tragic death.

In a performance before the President of the United States, Mr. Edwards turned his head at the top of a hop to smile at President Gertrude Conrad. He unfortunately failed to turn it back in time, lost his balance, and hurtled 200 feet to the pavement.

Mr. Edwards is mourned by the whole United States, but especially by his 15 children and 45 grandchildren.

BENGALEERS BECOME AMATEUR CHAMPIONS BY DEFEATING JANITORS

Washington high school's Tigers have again become the amateur champions of the whole football world by defeating the Janitorial Training high school by a score of 54 to 7. Their famous coach, Rodney Rust, son of the former coach at the institution in the years from 1930 to 1940, makes this statement in regard to his team's achievement: "All of the credit goes to the girls themselves. For months they have been faithfully training on a diet consisting mainly of Hershey bars and Coca-Colas. Despite the inadequate facilities for practicing (they have had to practice every night on the hard packed sands of the Arizona deserts) they have overcome all their opponents."

The complete schedule is as follows:

Washington

YOTHERS AND VANE BOX

Phillip Yothers and Robert Vane, class of '32, are taking boxing lessons from a former pupil of Washington high school, Xavier Leonard.

McRAITH EDITS 'TIMES'

Miss Mary Jane Mcraith has been appointed editor of the New York Times.

MARGARET SMITH TO TAKE LEAD IN PLAY, "WHEN MOTHER WAS A GIRL"

A copy of the play, "When Mother Was A Girl," which is to be presented by the sophomore class, is now in the school library. It is not a modern story; in fact, the director is afraid that the high-strung pupils of Washington High School will be bored and may even amuse themselves by tossing nickels on the stage!

This play formerly starred Margaret Krebs, of the class of '32, and the able director hopes to repeat its success with another star, namely, Margaret Krebs Smith, who, although only a sophomore, has already shown great talent, and who, perhaps, some day will surpass even her mother!

PADZENSKY WILL TALK

Ed Padzensky, spring class of '32, has just returned from a trip to the South Pole with Commander Clifford Schlesselman, spring class of '32. Ed plans to learn the essentials of a good speaker under the supervision of Miss Genevieve Dotson. If he succeeds, the future will see him exaggerating about the South Pole before many attentive listeners. Clifford plans to verify all of Ed's statements.

"AIN'T IT THE TRUTH"

There is a sad time that's known as grade day.

If you're lucky, it seems just like pay day.

But indeed it's the bunk,

If you get a red flunk;

Though for smart ones it's just a real heyday.

GLIB

A vigilante in the library, Miss Tathwell,
Guards her crowd and Prof. Kelley's as well!

The pupils all screech

In fear of a speech

When says she, "I've an announcement to tell."

"PARADISE LOST"?

"Work one hour a day," says Miss Leven,
"On five of the days out of seven."

But we sadly return,

"We'd much rather burn—

If that's the one way to gain heaven."

WE LIKE HIM

There is an art teacher named Zeman!

Who is a great- big- tall- he-man!

But that hair on his head—

Thank goodness it's not red—

Makes him look more or less like a demon!

OUR JURY

On her wooden throne Miss Wilson sits,
Judging and checking the high school wits,

And when we are late,

She decides our fate;

At her verdict we often throw fits!

GOLFOPHOBIA

We've an athletic teacher, Miss Combs,

Who out on the golf links oft roams,

With her club and her pill

She works with a will,

And at scores less than par, how she foams!

LES FEMMES CHIC

Miss Martin we know is a honey,

In class how she blushes—it's funny!

And Miss Reynolds, her pal

Is another swell gal;

They dress as if they'd gobs of money!

I'll miss these well ventilated, warm, cozy recitation rooms.—Betty Reitz.

WHAT IS IT

March 24-25—Two days holiday to prepare new duds for the "Big Parade" Easter.

March 30—Lavonne Field. "What-a-woman!" She wouldn't even need a compass for geometry! Those crayon pictures, made by her, adorn some of our class rooms.

April 1—April Fool, Washington! Scandal Sheet appears, and how! Mrs. Schluter feeds 6 hour Latin Class!

April 6—Mr. Sanford talks to us. Most of us wonder if we can secure any kind of a job in these jobless times.

WHAT WOULD WASHINGTON BE WITHOUT:

Miss Martin as a fashion plate;
 Miss Tathwell's improving influence;
 The free concerts from room 100;
 Dorothy Howe's coiffeurs;
 Blue slips;
 His hatchet?

HEARD MOST ANY OLD TIME

I left my theme at home.
 Do we take ALL the next chapter?
 What is the lesson for tomorrow?
 Shall we write on both sides of the paper?
 Do we have to use ink?
 Did I get through all right?
 I didn't hear the question.
 I missed the street car.
 I didn't know we had that for today.

Sound Principles Will Endure

177 years ago Benjamin Franklin formulated the principles of Mutual Insurance, which through sound management, economy and careful selection of risks provides reliable insurance at a reasonable rate. These principles have stood the test of time and today over twenty-four hundred Mutual Insurance Companies transact a business of enormous proportions.

The IOWA MUTUAL LIABILITY INSURANCE COMPANY, your Home Company, is a full Legal Reserve Mutual Insurance Corporation organized and operating under these principles and noted for its financial stability, conservative management, able and generous service and prompt and full payment of losses.
